Wuthnow, Robert. After the Baby Boomers : How Twenty- and Thirty-Somethings are Shaping the Future of American Religion. Princeton NJ : Princeton University Press, 2007. Interpreting new evidence from scores of in-depth interviews and surveys, reveals a generation of younger adults who, unlike the baby boomers that preceded them, are taking their time establishing themselves in careers, getting married, starting families of their own, and settling down-resulting in an estimated six million fewer regular churchgoers. Also examines how the continuing conflicts between religioius liberals and conservatives, the influx of Hispanic and Asian immigrants, and the prevalence of alternative spiritual systems have influenced this generation. Offers a tantalizing look at the future of American religion for decades to come.

loved! Everyone has a God-given yearning for complete and unconditional love in the context of all relationships. if you want to give and receive love most effectively, you've got to learn to speak the right love language. Different people with different personalities express love in different ways. In fact, ther are five very specific languages of love: words of affirmation, gifts, acts of service, quality time, and physical touch. Whether it's dating relationships, parents, coworkers, or friends-learning to speak and receive your own unique love language applies to every one of your relationships.

Pope Benedict XVI. Great Teachers. Huntington IN : Our Sunday Visitor Publishing Division, 2011. Discover the greatest teachers of the Faith as Pope Benedict XVI highlights their essential role during a time of scandal and strife in the Church. Focusing specifically on the thirteenth-century founding of the Fransciscans by St Francis of Assisi and the Dominicans by St Dominic Guzman, the pop said personal holiness led the two saints to preach-and to help actualize-a return to Gospel poverty, a deeper unity with the Church, and a new movement of evangelization, including within the European universities that were blossoming at the time. Their example continues to be relevant today as we struggle with a culture that "focuses more on having than on being," and look to emulate those holy people who chose to live very simply.

Our Parish Renewed : Parish Renewal Plans. www.PastoralPlanning.com, 2010. Developing a parish level retreat program has a profound and dramatic effect on the life of the whole community. First, those making the retreat really do experience a renewed life in Christ. Second, parish leaders and staff people are confronted constantly by this core mission: helping folks meet and know Christ. Third, since the first ones we recruit for these retreats are the parish leaders themselves, the tone of the parish shifts gears. This spirituality drives evangelization, outreach, pastoral care for the sick and imprisoned, stewardship, work for justice in the neighborhoods, and catechesis.

Huebsch, Bill and Anslinger, Leisa. Parenting Learning Centers : "What Did Christ Teach?". www.PastoralPlanning.com, 2010. Objectives: To recognize that the whole of Christ's life was a continual teaching: his silence, his miracles, his gestures, his prayer, his love for people, his special affection for the little and the poor, his way of the cross, and his resurrection; To understand that in his teaching, Jesus announced the reign of God; To appreciate that Jesus fulfilled the law with such perfection that he revealed its ultimate meaning; To more fully grasp that we are called to live out the paschal mystery as Christ did.

C 303.29

Huebsch, Bill and Anslinger, Leisa. Parenting Learning Centers : "What is the Liturgy?". www.PastoralPlanning.com, 2010. Objectives: To recognize that the liturgy is the work of the Trinity. In the liturgy of the church, God the Father is blessed as the source of all the gifts of creation. He has blessed us in Christ, so we might be God's adopted sons and daughters in the Spirit. To mor gully grasp that Christ's work in the liturgy is sacramental. His body the church is a sacrament (sign and instrument) through which the Holy Spirit dispenses the mystery of salvation. Through her liturgical actions the pilgrim church already paricipates in the heavenly liturgy. To appreciate that the Holy Spirit prepares the assembly to encounter Christ in the liturgy; To understand that the sacraments are signs of grace, instituted by Christ and entrusted to the church. The celebration of their rites signifies and makes present the graces of each sacrament.

C 303.30

Huebsch, Bill and Anslinger, Leisa. Parenting Learning Centers : "With Whom Do You Gather?". www.PastoralPlanning.com, 2010. Objectives: To understand that the word "church" designates the assembly of those whom God's word gathers together to form the people of God. They are nourished wiht the body of Christ, become the body of Christ. The church in this world is the sacrament of salvation, the sign and instrument of God's communion with us.; We become members of the people of God through faith and baptism; The church is the body of Christ, the bride of Christ, and the temple of the Holy Spirit.

C 303.33

Huebsch, Bill and Anslinger, Leisa. Parents Learning Centers : "How Does God Speak To Us?". www.PastoralPlanning.com, 2010. Objectives: To appreciate that God is the author of Sacred Scripture because God inspired its human authors; To recognize that interpretation of Scripture must be attentive above all to what God wants to reveal through the writings of the sacred authors; To understand that the Church accepts and venerates as inspired the 46 books of the Old Testament and the 27 books of the New Testament; To better grasp that the four gospels occupy a central place because Christ Jesus is their center.

Kimball, Don. Power & Presence : A Theology of Relationships. New York NY : Harper and Row Publishers, 1987. Fr Don Kimball, a seasoned youth minister, has sifted through his training and experience to outline a theology of relationships for survival in the front lines of today's Church. He explores the cultural shift from assuming the existence of basic communities (family, parish, school, neighborhood) to creating basic communities. He asserts that the minister's first task is to do relational ministry-to be with, accept, and love people as God sees and loves them. He points out that the arena of relationships is where God happens to all of us and where the best minstry occurs. He has developed what has become known as "the wedge model" for use in ministry. The model is an attempt to present graphically the dimensions of evangelization, catechesis, Christian service, and peer ministry as they involve the whole Church in its work of building community, proclaiming the Word, and providing service.

Comprehensive, easy to read, informative, and fun: Here's a youth ministry resource that offers everything you need to make your program a success. And by "success" we mean that it offers youth a four year experience of growing in Christ. The author is an experienced youth minister who calls his approach an "Initiation Model of Senior High Youth Ministry," because it parallels the RCIA process in significant and life-changing ways. In an Initiation Model the parish itself is the structure and the people are the witnessing faith-sharers who center on the Eucharist and are committed to a deepening relationship with Christ. This approach invites parish youth into full participation in a parish life that centers on the Eucharist. This is a wonderful and indispensable resource for all youth ministers, parish leaders, and pastoral teams.

Committee on Evangelization National Conference of Catholic Bishops. A Time to Listen...A Time to Heal : A Resource Directory for Reaching out to Inactive Catholics. Washington DC : United State Catholic Conference, 1999. As a community of faith, we want to welcome these people to become alive in the Good News of Jesus, to make their lives more fully a part of the ongoing story of salvation and to let Christ touch, heal, and reconcile them through the Holy Spirit. We must bring enthusiasm and old fashioned zeal for our faith to the effort of evangelization of inactive and alienated Catholics. The directory is divided into four parts: 1) three articles on the evangalization of inactive Catholics, 2) parish, diocesan, and national models presenting twelve diverse approaches for reaching out to inactive Catholics, 3) five faith-sharing guides, which can be used for small group reflection on the gospel stories of reconciliation during Lent and at other times of the year, and 4) a bibliography of resources.

He was satisfied with his life, and the timing ot the call was inconvenient. He wanted it to go away, but the Voice would not. Instead, it offered the invitation again, this time with and added complication. What could he do? Try as he might, he could not ignore the Voice, but neither could he leave his place of security. Until, suddenly, that, too, was changed. Thsi is a fable about an invitation encountered during a life given to other pleasures. It is a story to reflect on, to laugh with and to wonder over.

Bailey, Wilma Ann. "You Shall Not Kill" or "You Shall Not Murder"?. Collegeville MN : Liturgical Press, 2005. Nearly all English translations fo the Bible during the last third of the twentieth century have changed the wording of the sixth commandment form "kill" to "murder." The Hebrew word that appears in the commandment has a broader semantic range than "murder." Wilma Ann Bailey discusses why the Protestant and Jewish traditions changed the wording and why the Roman Catholic tradition did not. She also examines the impact the the wording will have in the furture for people who believe that there is no general prohibition against killing in the Hebrew Bible and why questions of killing that are broader than murder-death penalty and just war- are no longer part of the discussion of this commandment.
